NEW VOGUE DANCE

Slow/Modern/English Waltz (dance tempo 28-32bpm)

NB: on completing a sequence, dancers must be ready to commence another sequence, so logically, the closing hold / alignment is the same as the commencing hold / alignment. The Ventura Waltz is the exception as the final figure of the sequence is a Wing; so the closing/commencing hold has the Lady on the left side of the Man; the alignment remains DC. The first step for the Man is now outside the Lady.

Slow/Modern/English Waltz (dance tempo 28-32bpm)

Man commences with weight on the RF, stepping forward on the LF [Lady's weight on LF, stepping back on the RF]. There are three exceptions: Opus Five Waltz and St Valentine's Waltz where the opposite applies to both the Man and the Lady; Anna-Lisa Waltz - Lady steps forward on the RF.

Ballroom Hold; Normal Ballroom Hold; Natural Position; and Closed Hold – are all the same hold, just a different term to describe it. There would seem to be no rule as to which term to use for this Hold; choreographers have used all of them when specifying the Commencing. Hold for the above dances. It would appear to simply be the choreographer's preference.
